HAPPENINGS IN STATE

FIFTY-TWO LICENSED HOME GUARD COMPANIES TO PROTECT CALIFORNIA

MODESTO, Cal., Sept. 17.—The second annual Stanislaus county fair opened here to-day with a record attendance. Two large tents, one devoted to agricultral exhibits and the other to commercial displays, house the fair, while the livestock and other divisions are properly cared for. The fair continues until Saturday and each day has been dedicated to some section of the county, giving wider interest in the fair. A round-up and like features with high class talent participating, form parts of the week's program.

MARYSVILLE, Cal., Sept. 17.—Yuba county's drafted men will not go to the training camp hungry. At 6:30 o'clock to-night they will be the guests of the citizens of the county through the civic organizations at a banquet for which preparations have been in progress for two weeks. A farewell, with an appropriate program, will follow.

HANFORD, Cal., Sept. 17.—The annual Kings county fair drew visitors from all parts of the southern San Joaquin valley when it opened here to-day. War has given an impetus to the interest in the agricultural features which were made the center of elaborate preparations by the fair management. During last week "booster" parties visited surrounding cities and towns, working in the interests of the fair and their efforts to-day bore fruit in every indication of a successful week. The fair closes Saturday.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 17.—California in a very few years will be the leading hog and live stock producing state in the Union according to the prediction of Dr. Charles Keane, state veterinarian. "The hog and live stock industry in the state has become a stable industry," declares Dr. Keane, "and will remain so as we never will be able to catch up in the live stock and hog shortage caused by the war. An illustration of the wonderful progress which has been made in California," he went on, "in the hog raising industry is the hog show at the state fair. This was by far the strongest hog show in the history of the fair and the hogs entered could step in to the corn belt sections and carry off the prizes

VISIT ARCADIA CAMP

Fifty boys at the Arcadia cantonment were made happy Sunday afternoon when five machines of Glendale people visited them at the camp, carrying with them fifty comfort bags made by the comfort bag section of the Glendale Chapter of Red Cross under the direction of the chairman, Mrs. A. M. Beamon, and filled with the little things so necessary to the happiness of the boys who have given up so many home comforts to serve their country. The machines were driven by Mr. A. M. Beamon, John Robert White, T. W. Preston, S. C. Packer and A. S. Chase, and all were generous in filling their cars to overflowing.

They found a great many other visitors at the camp. The 25 boys of Battery D and 25 of Company 8, who received the comfort bags donated by the Glendale contingent, were most appreciative of the thoughtfulness of the donors. The Glendale chapter is very anxious that every Glendale soldier shall have one of these conveniences and it has just been learned that there are still one or two who have not been supplied. The committee will see to it that these boys shall be provided with comfort bags.

Among the officers and committee heads of Glendale Chapter who visited the Arcadia camp Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Beamon, Mrs. A. S. Chase, Mrs. H. S. Duffield, Mrs. J. R. White and Mrs. Mabel Franklin Ocker.

WELCOME TEACHERS

It was a spendid number of ladies of the Cerritos avenue P.-T. Association who were present at 8:30 Monday morning to welcome the teachers and new residents, and they gave all the assistance possible to the children in locating their study rooms.

All second grade pupils at present will attend the Acacia street school, east of Glendale avene.

This was a disappointment to the mothers of children south of the Cerritos avenue school, but the children are promised transportation.

The teachers all looked good and happy and the association feels sure of splendid co-operation and a profitable year.

TRENCH LIGHTS

MRS. TAYLOR TELLS HOW TO PREPARE CANDLES FOR WAR USE

Mrs. M. G. Taylor of 1501 Patterson avenue has just learned through the Red Cross auxiliary of the Friday Morning club how to make the candles that are used in the trenches in Europe. Some of these candles have just been received here and they are very simple and easily made as well as being very inexpensive. The making of these little conveniences opens an avenue of activity for women who wish to aid the Red Cross and do something for the boys at the front, but who cannot knit or sew.

To make trench candles, cut a strip of newspaper the width and length of a column of a standard size newspaper. Roll the strip as tight as possible and tie around the center with a piece of twine. Boil the little rolls in paraffin for two hours. Before the paraffiin hardens, press one end firmly on a flat surface so the candle may be made to stand erect. These little candles are said to give a very brilliant light and very delicate operations have been performed by their light in the trenches. After the candles have hardened pack them in boxes between layers of tissue paper and they will be thankfully received at any Red Cross headquarters and will go to brighten, literally, the lives of the men who must spend their days in the dark trenches on the battle front. A box of these candles may be made with little trouble and almost no expense. We are sure Mrs. Taylor will tell you more about making them if you are interested.

LEES RETURN FROM MOTOR TOUR

Mr. and Mrs. Ed M. Lee and sons Wilbur and Kenneth have returned from a very interesting auto trip in which they covered sixteen hundred miles or more without any more serious accident than breaking a spring or other minor accident.

Lake Tahoe was visited. The magnificent scenery of the Truckee River country was one of the enjoyable parts of the trip. Donner Lake and other well-known picturesque spots were visited. At Sacramento, where the broken spring was repaired, Mrs. Lee left the party and proceeded to Berkeley, where she visited her daughter, Miss Dorothy Lee, who is in attendance at the University.

The return trip was made by the coast route, which is reported to be in a very bad condition, the roads being if anything worse than some of the worst of the Nevada roads. Mr. Lee and family stopped at Monterey to visit cousins on their way down the coast. It was a camping trip, camp being made when a suitable place was reached, at the pleasure of the members of the party. While being somewhat tired, yet all feel amply repaid for any hardship or discomfort encountered.

PACIFIC AVE. PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION

The Pacific Avenue Parent-Teacher Association will hold the first meeting of the new school year next Thursday at 3 o'clock at the Pacific avenue school.

Miss Ethel Hume Flood, Dean of Girls, of the Glendale Union High School, will speak on "Ideals for Our Boys and Girls." Miss Flood has spent the summer at Columbia University and is full of enthusiasm concerning her special work, vocational training.

Mrs. G. D. Roach will entertain with a vocal number.

Mrs. Arthur Brown, the new federation president, will give a talk on "Ideals for the Parent-Teacher Association."

This will be followed by an opportunity to become acquainted with the new kindergarten mothers and the new teachers.

Publicity plans for the first picture show benefit, "Captain Kiddo," to be given October 12th for the benefit of the P.-T. A. will be discussed.

Everybody is urged to attend and enjoy these programs whether or not associated with the school.

Red Cross benefit concert will be given on the grounds of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Peckham, 245 North Central avenue, Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. A fine entertainment awaits you. Come one, come all. 15 cents admission. Any one wishing to donate cakes or ice cream, please call Glendale 98-J.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Tuesday. Westerly winds.

IRON WORKERS STRIKE

SHIP BUILDING IN SAN FRANCISCO BAY DISTRICT PARALYZED BY WALK-OUT OF WORKERS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

SAN FRANCISCO, September 17.—A strike of 24,000 iron workers employed in the shipping yards in San Francisco and bay cities began officially at 9 o'clock this morning. At the Union Iron Works, the largest plant in this section, hundreds of men entered at 8 o'clock this morning and began to walk out before 9. For the first time in the history of the company not a hammer was lifted to-day nor a bit of work done. The strike is the most serious this section has ever experienced. Shipbuilding in the San Francisco bay district is paralyzed completely.

SWEDEN FACING FAMINE

RULE OF U. S. PROHIBITING EXPORTS WILL BRING SCANDINAVIA FACE TO FACE WITH STARVATION

WASHINGTON, September 17.—Scandinavian representatives, particularly Swedes, pleaded to-day with the government that the new prohibition on wheat exports will bring that nation to the brink of starvation. The Swedes declared their country would be the first to feel the pinch of famine. Under the new United States regulations wheat, many chemicals and forms of iron may not be exported at all except for war purposes or when needed for exchange. The pinch of the new rule will serve to swerve Sweden from her pro-German attitude, it is believed.

GERMAN PLOT IN PHILLIPINES

INTRIGUE INVOLVING INSURRECTION OF FILIPINOS IS UNCOVERED AND DETAILS LEARNED TO-DAY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, September 17.—Details were learned to-day of a German intrigue, an attempt to create an insurrection in the Philippines. Conrad Andre, German vice-consul at Zebu-Hoilo and other towns, was detained by the government, charged with creating a "disturbance," which was in reality meant to be an insurrection. He was taken to Manila to escape the angry mob, but was later released for lack of evidence. It was shown that he attempted to establish a submarine base in an out of the way place on the island and a trunk full of papers involving other plans were secretly opened and photographed by the United States authorities.

PIONEERS PICNIC

OLD SETTLERS OF GLENDALE VALLEY SPEND HAPPY DAY IN PARK

There was a splendid response to the invitation which had been sent out to the old settlers of the valley, particularly Glendale, Tropico, Burbank and Eagle Rock, to meet at Echo Park Saturday. Most of the friends arrived early with good old-fashioned, heavy-laden lunch baskets. There was a general love feast of greetings and pleasant conversation. After lunch the following officers were elected: J. C. Sherer, president; Ella W. Richardson, vice-president; G. W. Sanford, Secretary and treasurer.

The pioneer days of our valley were recalled by the following speakers:

Mr. Philip W. Parker, one of the first settlers in Eagle Rock, told of his experiments with the thermometer and lantern in locating the frostless land on his place and for sixteen years he snipped winter tomatoes to Chicago. Now with the development of water has come the production of vegetation which has changed our climate. Glendale was undesirable then, the thermometer sometimes registering over one hundred and twenty in the shade and there was no shade but the sage brush. Now he says, "Glendale is the best place on earth. I live there, three of my children and their families live there, and the rest are coming."

Mr. Benjamin F. Patterson, among many reminders, took us back over thirty-one years to our first train service, when Hon. W. C. B. Richardson gave sixteen acres for a depot site and the people of Glendale raised two thousand five hundred dollars, which built the Tropico depot, which is in use to-day.

Mr. W. H. Watson told of the work of the farmer on the hot sand, and no water, but rejoiced in the abundant supply of water to-day and improvements that have been made.

Mrs. E. W. Richardson told of her husband's first trip to our valley in 1871, when on horseback he tried to locate the Eulalia Ranch, which his father on his first trip to California in 1868 purchased. The only person he saw on that day's trip was a Mexican under the sycamore tree on Jess Hunter's Ranch, near where the S. P. ice plant is located. In those days the road ran near there and through the river and up a steep grade to Buena Vista street (now North Broadway).

"May the integrity and patriotism of these two first pioneers continue to be reflected by their family in all lines of progress and co-operation."

Mr. Samuel Parker said that all the children were good looking and healthy in Glendale and if there were any sick or puny they must keep them boxed up for he never saw any. He would put his O. K. on the whole lot, all ages. "Glendale is kind to childhood tending to old age, of whom I am which."

Mr. Phillip Bullis told us of his setting out the Riverdale tract to grapes in '84. Also many little reminders of happenings of the past.

Mr. Edward Ayers, of eighty-one summers, recited a dialogue he had just learned, which had a moral, teaching that people love the good.

Mr. Sherer was ever ready with a "That reminds me,' etc., and much wit and humor. The whole meeting showed love and loyalty to our home town and the spirit of co-operation and good fellowship.

A good story told was this: A committee visited heaven and everything was beautiful and the faces were good and happy, but there were a number who were chained up, and the committee asked why. Answer: Because they are from Glendale, and if they get loose they will go back.

These reminiscences not only took the happy crowd back over the years in memory but made them all feel young again. Oh my! Oh Boy! We'll all be back next year.

CANDY DAY

At the community concert Saturday Mrs. Nanno Woods announced that of the 95 soldier boys on Dead Man's Island, 35 were from Glendale. It is a small camp, lacking conveniences which will doubtless be supplied later. She has arranged to send them a candy treat Thursday of this week, and asks that donations of home-made candy be left for them at the Glendale Chamber of Commerce on or before Wednesday. The Pelleys donated 20 pounds.

Two weeks from Candy Day will be Pie Day. A fortnight later will come Cake and Cookie Day. She urges that all interested should give liberally of such dainties to our soldier boys while they are with us and the giving is good.

COMMUNITY SINGING

METHODIST CHURCH CHOIR AND MISS ISGRIG LEAD SINGING

Last Saturday's community concert was arranged and the singing led by Miss Isabel Isgrig, who has made not only solo and choir singing, but community or congregational songs so popular in the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Glendale.

While many Glendalians attend church and sing in Los Angeles, this fair and famous songbird from the City of Angels reverses that program, adding much to the beauty and religious interest of the Sunday services in Dr. Snudden's church. "Miss Isgrig will hold the office of historian in St. Cecelia Musical club this year, and on the occasion of the club's tenth birthday next Wednesday will give a brief account of the growth of the organization. She has still another marked musical talent. She whistled "The Last Rose of Summer" with a sweetness that would make a nightingale envious.

The well-selected program published in the Evening News Saturday was effectively rendered. But why was "Onward, Christian Soldiers" sung with so much more occuracy and fervor than even "The Star-Spangled Banner"?

Perhaps one good reason is that people know both words and music better, arguing, at first sight, more for Glendale's piety than patriotism. But the fact is, Glendalians have so few opportunities to practice patriotic songs in concert.

Hence the need and desirability of the Saturday evening community concerts, which will be made a weekly event for an indefinite time. Soon the weather will send them under roof. Perhaps then the words can be read on a screen and the community singing will rapidly improve in both tone and volume. These community concerts should become also an efficient public singing school, in which as many as will may meet early and practice the community songs before the concert hour.

What Mr. Snudden said in his timely and very interesting talk at the last concert was received by many listening ears. He and City Manager Watson, who spoke at the previous concert, were in full accord as to the need for more co-operation in Glendale and in commending such community singing. Mr. Snudden said he was not knocking but boosting Glendale in referring to what Pasadena and San Bernardino had accomplished since 1893 by civic co-operation in their respective ways. Glendale, more favorably located than either, could do even better if she would.

He praised the other current Glendale movement to induce Glendalians to patronize Glendalians, so far as possible. It is the broad spirit of civic loyalty which makes any city a winner. He believed that such loyalty, with the finer feeling of mutual helpfulness and mutual forbearance, are well fostered and developed by community singing, which is self-expression of the noble sentiments in the songs.

Harmony and co-operation in singing will encourage the "get-together spirit" in other things, all for the

HIKES TO BIG BEAR LAKE

Robt. Braden Tower, of 118 South Maryland avenue has just returned from a most enjoyable hike to Big Bear Lake. He went as a guest of Miss Rose B. Thorne and her sister Mary, who lived for some time on Isabel street near Third street, Glendale, and now reside in Redlands. Miss Mary Thorne is at the head of the commercial department of the Redlands High School. The party consisted of the two sisters, two high school boys and Robert. The boys tried their hand at fishing and were both surprised and delighted at their success, catching in all over 50 trout, which materially helped out the commissary department. For one of his years (15) Robert has made quite a study of Nature. Before coming to California, he made a thorough study of eastern birds and their habits, and is now quite well informed on the western birds. He is also especially fascinated in mountain climbing and exploring.

INSTALLING A NEW ELEVATOR

The Glendale Sanitarium is installing another passenger elevator, and to give more complete elevator service an extension is being built on the roof of the building. This institution is in a very prosperous condition and is ever ready to give its patrons first class service.

HOW ABOUT THE SOCIALISTS?

Why have so many of the socialists in the United States deserted their socialistic ideas? For years they have preached the doctrine of a collective society, not always with success, but always, as we thought, with sincerity. Now that the war has brought home even to conservative minds the advantages of their theories, loyal citizens everywhere see that the country must act as a state, not as a collection of individuals; they see also—what may prove a more important vision—that even when peace returns, the country must think and act as a state for the good of the whole community. In the interest of the state, manufacturers and farmers now submit to a government control of their pursuits, the housekeeper and the grocer submit to a government check of the consumption of food; and men and women accept government direction as to what military or other service they should undertake. At such a moment it would be the most natural thing in the world for the sincere socialist to encourage these dispositions toward a fuller idea of statehood, and to make these dispositions permanent after the war.

But are the socialists encouraging these symptoms of a growing state? Some of them are—but they first resign from the socialist party. And doubtless some of them are encouraging these symptoms while still remaining in the socialist party. But the socialist of whom we hear most now-a-days is primarily opposed to a war with Germany, and in order to make his opposition effective he is sacrificing even his socialism—he is behaving frankly as an anarchist. He knows that if war must be waged, it is most effectively waged under the system of universal service; but since he could not prevent this war, he seems to be doing what he can to see that we do not wage it effectively. He knows that co-operation between labor and capital, between railroads and the government, between food producers and food consumers is a sign of increased intelligence and increased efficiency in the state; therefore he refuses his aid to any such social-minded progress.

If he no longer is loyal to his own ideals, to what or to whom is he loyal?—Whittier News.

AMERICA'S CAUSE FOR WAR

"The new German policy swept every restriction aside. Vessels of every kind, whatever their flag, their character, their cargo, their destination, their errand, have been ruthlessly sent to the bottom without warning and without thought of help or mercy for those on board, the vessels of friendly neutrals along with those of belligerents. Even hospital ships and ships carrying relief to the sorely bereaved and stricken people of Belgium, though the latter were provided with safe conduct through the prescribed areas by the German government itself and were distinguished by unmistakable marks of identity, have been sunk with the same reckless lack of compassion or of principle. * * *

I am not now thinking of the loss of property involved, immense and serious as that is, but only of the wanton and wholesale destruction of the lives of noncombatants, men, women, and children, engaged in pursuits which have always, even in the darkest periods of modern history, been deemed innocent and legitimate. Property can be paid for; the lives of peaceful and innocent people can not be. The present German submarine warfare against commerce is a warfare against mankind."—Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States.

COURSES IN HOME NURSING AND DIETETICS

Women throughout the country are urged to take the educational courses offered by the Red Cross Bureau of Instruction in Home Nursing and Home Dietetics.

With the inevitable shortage of nurses in consequence of the demand from military hospitals, both at home and abroad, laywomen who can nurse the sick intelligently in their own homes will be capable of doing patriotic service scarcely less commendable than active service in a hospital.

They can fill an enormous gap in the nursing ranks.

These courses may also serve as an inspiration or incentive to women to enter training schools for a regular course in training. Those who enter a training school at this time are also helping to meet the emergency that is conronting us in the shortage in nurses. They will aid as pupil nurses while preparing to take the place of graduate nurses after their completion of the full course of training

Instruction in these courses was formerly required as the preliminary training for nurses' aids in base hospital units. Women who had completed the courses and were selected by the chief nurse of a unit for 72 hours of supplementary practical training in a hospital were placed on file with the unit as volunteer nurses' aids. Such aids were presumed to be eligible for foreign service, but foreign governments having requested that only graduate nurses be sent by the Red Cross with hospital units, nurses' aids or other volunteer workers are not at present needed in connection with hospital units on duty abroad.

It is possible that if the needs of the service demand it, women who have had this training will be called into service with our military hospitals at home.

The general interest in the courses is most encouraging and bespeaks an intelligent conception of the need for such training by the country at large. On a sample day examination papers were received from 27 classes and certificates issued to 300 pupils—this in August, the lightest month of the year.

BUREAU OF COMMUNICATION

At the request of the Department of State, the American Red Cross has undertaken, through its Bureau of Communication, to communicate messages or inquiries from persons in America concerning the welfare and whereabouts of persons residing in the countries of the Central Powers, or in territory occupied by them.

In other belligerent countries this communication is possible, since all enemy subjects being held either as civil or military prisoners of war have the privilege of correspondence granted by international agreement. The United States has not classed German civilians as prisoners and consequently the closing of postal service to the Central Powers has caused serious individual hardship.

The Government of the United States proposes, through the American Red Cross, to relieve this unnecessary suffering.

Individuals wishing to make inquiry concerning the welfare and whereabouts of friends or relatives in territory belonging to, or occupied by the Central Powers, may communicate with the Bureau of Communication, American Red Cross, Washington, D. C. Proper inquiries and messages will be transmitted on a special form to the International Red Cross in Geneva. From Geneva, they will be forwarded to the individuals for whom they are intended.

Answers will be returned to the International Red Cross and by them will be sent to Washington. The Red Cross will then communicate the information received to the writers of the original letters Two 2c stamps must be enclosed for postage. A similar method is being devised for the transmission of inquiries from the Central Powers to America. This will also be handled by the Red Cross.

The following points are to be observed by all inquirers:

1. Letters of inquiry must be addressed to the Bureau of Communication; not to the person concerning whom inquiry is made.
2. Letters must be concise, since only the briefest communication can be sent.
3. They must mention only personal matters, such as communications concerning the condition of members of the family and requests for similar information.
4. Letters must be legible and must be in English, French, Italian, Russian, German, Polish, or Hungarian.
5. They must include the full name, address, and occupation of the sender and the full name, address, occupation, and age of the person for whom the inquiry is destined.
6. Inquiries may not be made oftener than once in six weeks.

The Bureau of Communication reserves the right to refuse to transmit any information or inquiry which appears to be contrary to the national welfare.

FOREST SERVICE EXHIBIT

The Forest Service and Fish and Game Exhibit, which is said to be one of the most complete and comprehensive ever shown at a State fair, continues to attract great crowds, according to the officers in charge. The exhibit, which is enclosed in a grove of pine cedar, and fir trees brought down from the mountains for the purpose, consists of model Forest Service stations and equipment, trout ponds, a fish ladder, wild fowl, and mounted specimens of game found in the National Forests of California. In the midst of the trees is a lookout tower containing maps and instruments for locating a forest fire. An attendant lectures upon the methods of fire fighting. Beneath the tower is a machine portraying in miniature forest fires starting from five common causes—camp fires, brush burning, automobile parties tossing away matches, railroads, and lightning. Nearby is a tool box containing axes, shovels, and other tools used in fire fighting. Through the trees is strung a Forest Service telephone line. A model showing the difference in the amount of erosion on forested and non-forest covered mountain slopes is of much interest. An attendant explains that even the so-called valueless brush serves an important use in keeping the soil in place in the mountains and that where the forest and brush cover have been destroyed by fire, the streams will be choked with silt and be subject to flood and drought.

The wild duck pond in the forest also attracts much interest, and the mounted specimens of California's game birds and animals serve to point out the relation between forest conservation and fish and game protection and propagation.

The National Association of Clothing Designers has advised that to save woolen cloth men's clothes will be made without pockets. Thus more and more men and women are reaching a plane of equality. Now we shall see every man going around with a hand bag to hold his belongings. But won,t the bag cost as much as the pockets?

TRAINING THE CHILDREN

Rev. Vernon Cowsert delivered a masterly discourse at the morning service at the First Baptist church of this city yesterday morning, from the theme, "Education." The attendance at this service was good. Rev. Cowsert took his text from three passages in the Bible: First, Genesis 42d chapter and 22d verse, "And Reuben answered them saying, "Spake I not unto you, saying, 'Do not sin against the child'; and ye would not hear? Therefore, behold, also his blood is required." The second was from Proverbs 22d chapter and 6th verse, "Train up a child in the way he should go and when he is old he will not depart from that way." Third, Timothy, 2d chapter and verses 3-5, "For this is good and acceptable in the sight of God our Saviour. Who will have all men to be saved, and to come into the knowledge of the truth. For there is one God and one mediator between God and man, the man Christ Jesus."

He said in part:

"To-day has been set apart as a day of prayer in the evangelical churches for the public schools of our country—to ask God's blessing upon the officers and teachers of our schools, and also for the parents and homes of the scholars. This nation has risen on a large scale to supply the educational needs of her people. In 1914 there were 20,000,000 children in our public schools. This country has a school population of 26,000,000. There were 200,000 in colleges and universities, private schools, etc. The average attendance was about 14,000,000 pupils, there being about 12,000,000 children of school age who did not attend any institution of learning. From this we may see that, although we are doing much to educate our children, there is a great educational problem ahead of the people of America.

"The state is under a moral obligation to educate and train the children within its borders—this for its own protection, if nothing else. It is claimed that one bad brood of children from one bad woman in New York cost that state more than $1,000,000. One of the most pressing obligations of the state is to protect its people from inroads of crime, and one of the principal ways of accomplishing this is by education.

"Although all of us believe that the child should be given some sort of training along educational lines, the great question which arises is, 'What is the way?' There is an amazing variation of opinions. It is generally agreed, however, that so far as the general school system is concerned, there are at least three things which should be considered: Intelligence, Morality and Patriotism. Another question arises, 'How shall we present these to the child?' This is a serious question and I tell you the things of the public school need prayerful attention and consideration.

"Let no parent imagine that a school teacher can discharge the training, especially along spiritual lines, that should be done by the parent. The parent must do his part. Say, have you a family altar in your home? Or are you sending your children out into the world without any thought of obligation to God? Eight of the members of this church are engaged in the work of developing the characters and training the minds of the children of this community. I thank God for this. These teachers are endeavoring to every day develop those principles that are of God.

"May God help us to do our duty to the public school, the home and the children. The church undertakes to start the little feet off on the right road, not only for this life but for that which is to come."

The subject of Rev. Cowsert's evening sermon was "In the Day of God's Power."

CALIFORNIA LAND SHOW

With Southern California almost a solid phalanx for the big California land show to be held in San Francisco next October, and the central and northern parts of the state falling into line, each bending its efforts towards individual distinction in the great picture as well as the ultimate achievement in the ensemble the exposition is now well under way.

F. M. Pickering, W. K. Dunne and Emil E. Kahn, the contingent of the County Participation committee, who have recently returned from a motor trip to the southern part of the state, declare that never in the history of the state has there been such a unity of spirit for the state welfare as that shown in their recent visit to the principal cities of Southern California. En route they were cordially entertained and at Los Angeles, where they conferred with the chamber of commerce through Frank Wiggins of Los Angeles, they were entertained at luncheon by Colonel J. B. Lankershim. The enthusiasm of these two well-known men was significant for Frank Wiggins has been a civic promoter of California for years and Colonel Lankershim is one of the largest landholders in the country, with extensive interests in San Francisco.

Los Angeles will make an exhibit not only of farm products and land resources, but of industrial activities, good roads and many other things for which that region is noted.

Imperial will show the people of California what superior cotton their one time almost uninhabited land can produce and there will be also rare varieties of alfalfa, the flour of which is beginning to be used as a substitute for wheat. The exhibit will also include melons, barley, fruit and livestock.

Through the efforts of George W. Houk of San Diego, that county will send up the best that the county produces and it is understood that this visualized display of Southern California's resources will include references to the delightful little San Diego bay harbor and the importance of Oriental shipping through San Francisco and San Diego whence are exported heavy shipments of lemons, olives, oil, raisins, honey, dried fruits, cotton, hides and wool.

Orange and Riverside will display avocados in profusion and this display, while including fruits, will be an extensive and diversified demonstration of what two very busy sections are achieving in various activities.

Ventura, also one of the most recent of the counties to enlist, will show what scientific farming can do with fertile soil and San Luis Obispo will make a similar demonstration.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 17.—The striking iron workers started several small riots this morning. They smashed three cars of the United Railways, beating the crews.

SUPPLY OF FREIGHT CARS

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 17.—The Nation's supply of available freight cars are more badly needed now than ever before in the history of the country, according to representations made to Governor Stephens as chairman of the California State Council of Defense by officials of big transcontinental railroad lines. Every available car is now being utilized in moving the immense grain and other crops. In a bulletin urging every California shipper to help in preventing a transportation shortage and to enable Uncle Sam to carry out his fast-moving war program wherein freight cars are playing an integral role, the State Council says:

"We can not create cars. But we can make each car do more than it ever has done before. We have a wasteful habit of keeping loaded cars on sidings while the consignee gets ready to unload them at his leisure. A large amount of time and therefore a large part of the efficiency of cars is thrown away by this carelessness. We must all speed up now. In Germany, we understand, only six hours are given for unloading cars. We ought to do at least as well. If it is necessary there will have to be legislation on this subject, but we hope it will be unnecessary through the active co-operation of shippers in keeping the cars moving. The man or concern that holds a freight car a minute longer than is necessary is shirking a clear and important public duty. Public spirit and even self-interest now dictates the strictest and most whole-hearted co-operation with the able men in charge of transportation.

"If this comes about promptly through the enlightment initiative of shippers, it will go far toward removing the danger of freight congestion and food or fuel famine in this country and toward helping America to become a real factor in winning the war against German military autocracy."

AMERICAN FIGHTERS ARE GOOD SPENDERS SAY FRENCH

By W. S. Forrest

PARIS, Aug. 29 (By Mail)—France is beginning to believe that money grows on trees in the United States. The army and navy has had several pay days. Shiny American gold pieces have rapidly found their way into bank tills in exchange for French coin of the realm and the latter has been lavishly distributed in typical American fashion.

The French poilu looks with envy on his American fellow-fighter. The poilu receives four cents a day for being a poilu. The British Tommy gets 24 cents a day. The American soldier gets about seventy cents a day. And he spends it.

Paris newspapers never cease to wonder at the spending American fighters. One told how common, ordinary stokers off one of Uncle Sam's battleships came to Paris and cashed big letters of credit at Paris banks. Another detailed how an American Jackie bought a dozen bottles of champagne just because it was so cheap in Franec.

Paris hotel keepers have ceased to be surprised when an American soldier or sailor orders an expensive room. Theatre ticket offices sell high priced seats to American fighters without a murmur. Restaurant waiters are not surprised when they are told "Just keep the change."

So marked has become the American money spending menace that the Army and Navy Y. M. C. A., which is a self-appointed guardian over our fighters' pocketbook and morals, has placarded the following "don'ts" and "whenevers":

"Don't engage rooms in any hotel without first asking the price including light and service. And don't think that your hot bath is gratis.

"Don't order a meal in a restaurant without first consulting the menu and see that the prices are plainly written—otherwise you may be surprised when you get your bill.

"Don't omit to count your change.

"Don't give all your spare change to the waiter. He doesn't expect more than ten per cent. of the bill up to fifty francs and then five per cent. after that.

"Don't accept outside rates in exchange for pounds and dollars. Go to a bank where you will get the right and lawful exchange.

"Don't ask advice from strangers. Go to people in authority or recognized associations of your own country.

"Whenever you go into a shop to buy anything—always ask the price first.

"Whenever you order a drink notice that the price is marked on the saucer upon which it is served."

CHINA'S ENTRANCE INTO WORLD WAR

By Ralph Turner

TOKIO, August 20 (By Mail)—China smashed precedent of centuries when she entered the world war. She cast aside the age-old non-resistant, isolation policy of her ancestors. Moreover, although a republic since 1911, and bearing all the trappings and machinery generally approved for the conduct of a republican government, China went into the war without a single nod of assent from her national congress. The reason was that there is no parliament today.

Its disappearance came about through efforts to coerce it in the troublous days when Chang Hsun and his pig-tailed soldiers marched on Peking Then came the "restoration" lasting just one week, the downfall of Chang Hsun and democracy again.

Why did China decide on war?

Because even disorder and chaos, so frequent in China, have not destroyed the Chinaman's astuteness. Above all things China needs money. She believes avowed declaration of her sympathy for the Allied cause will help her get the financial aid necessary to put her house in order. How well this hope is being borne out is illustrated in reports that England, Japan, Russia and France—the "Four Power Syndicate"—is considering a loan of $50,000,000 (gold).

Not only this, but China hopes for revision of her customs duties, postponement of payments on the Boxer indemnities, a voice at the peace council table where settlement of Tsingtao will be made, expulsion of German interests and German intrigue from her borders and increasing friendship and aid from America.

Incidentally, if aid in men is desired, China has 458,600 soldiers under arms, four great arsenals, a great supply of iron, antimony and other metals—and inexhaustible man power. Some of these coolies are already at work in France.

If Premier Tuan-chi, who has favored war since the break with Germany, and Feng Kuo-chang, the real President, have really decided to act together and support each other, China and war should get along very well. Tuan, the man who vanquished Chang Hsun and his imperial dreams, began shortly after his return to office to prepare his war plans. These included the formation of a National Council, which will be the only form of popular representation to have a hand in China's war activities. Some officials proposed to await the convention of the national assembly, submitting the war proposal to this body, but Tuan strongly opposed this, insisting on the necessity of immediate action.

The National Council, composed of ministers, vice-ministers, councilors of the various departments, and two representatives from each province, finds itself endowed with the following powers, duties and limitations:

It will take the place of the provisional legislature organ; its session shall not exceed one year; it will confirm the cabinet's war declaration, modify the parliamentary election law and aid in the organization of Parliament.

At the close of the National Council, Parliament will immediately convene. Thus, Premier Tuan has provided some form of popular approval for his policies.

War against Germany to-day receives practically the unanimous support of the provinces. As early as August 10th, four-fifths of them had expressed their support. Even the southern districts, which have been threatening revolution and a new government, have rallied to the cause.

JENNIE'S IDEA

The callers were staying very late, and little Jennie, who had become very tired, finally said:

with comparative ease. In past years hog raising has been considered a by-product of the dairy business—a sort of a side line. But it is no longer regarded as a by-product but as a business, and the industry is being handled in a business-like manner."

SACRAMENTO, Cal., September 17.—That California is not without protection in case of an emergency in spite of the fact that the National Guard has been mustered into Federal service, is evidenced by the presence of 52 licensed home guard companies in the state. Each company, according to a report of Adjutant-General J. J. Borree, chairman of the security and defense committee of the state council of defense, to the council, has an average membership of 100 men and is subject to call by the governor. General Borree says that these companies can be mobilized and moved to any point in the state in six hours. Los Angeles leads in the number of companies with nine, San Francisco has six and Sacramento four.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 17.—Consent of the board of supervisors is not necessary under the law when a county horticultural commissioner desires to proceed to exterminate ground squirrels, according to an opinion by Attorney-General Webb to State Horticultural Commissioner G. H. Hecke. Webb also informed Hecke that a lien attached to property due to refusal of the owner to pay his proportion of expense in destroying squirrels is valid and that an ordinance of a board of supervisors could not supersede or control the provisions of the state law. Hecke asked for opinions of these questions because of the doubt in the minds of horticultural commissioners regarding the provisions of the squirrel extermination law.

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Sept. 17.—Horace M. Lebok, city superintendent of schools, has opened an advertising campaign for pupils in the city schools, using full page and half page displays. He claims that by his advertising campaign he will increase the total enrollment of the public schools 25 per cent.

NURSING SCHOLARSHIPS

Washington, September 16.

Announcement was made to-day by the Town and Country Nursing Service of the American Red Cross of a series of Public Health Nursing Scholarships, donated by chapters and individuals as special war gifts. Miss Fannie Clement, Director of the Bureau, made the following statement:

"The war experience of Europe has emphasized the social need for carefully trained nurses, who by education and temperament are prepared for the patriotic service of watching over the health standards of a whole community. The Scholarships of $250 each that we now offer cover an eight months' course in public health study at Columbia University, New York City, Simmons College, Boston. A similar course is offered at the School of Applied Social Science, Western Reserve University, School of Nursing and Health, University of Cincinnati and the School of Civics and Philanthropy, Chicago.

"The sum of $250 is hardly sufficient, of course, to cover the expenses of the course. Each nurse, receiving a scholarship, will be privileged where necessary, to utilize the Student Loan Fund of the Red Cross to an amount equal to the scholarship. The loan fund was established several years ago in order that nurses might be trained for Red Cross work in rural communities. Many of the nurses so trained are now rendering invaluable service, both in community and reconstruction work in France, and in the public health work in the zones around cantonments.

"At this time, when the nursing profession is giving so generously of its talent to the base hospitals abroad, it is important that the profession strengthen itself in order that it may more extensively participate in the civilian relief at home and in the foreign field. We need young women to go into the hospital training schools. And we need graduates from the hospital training schools, who will fit themselves for social service."

betterment of Glendale and Glendalians.

With the moving assistance of the Robinson Transfer and Jesse Chambers of the Dodge Auto Service, the Glendale Music Co. had provided a good piano, on which all the accompaniments were well played by Mr. Alfred E. Ricksecker, a Glendale teacher of music. The anthem, Gounod's "Sanctus," was magnificent, Miss Margaret Lusby's clear, fervid voice rendering the solo so dear to worshipping souls,, "Heaven and Earth Are Full of Thy Glory." The large, well-trained choir led by Miss Isgrig made it all a great musical and devotional triumph.

Evidently the Glendalian slogan is "God, Country and Home." That is our national slogan, too, and it means "victory."

An unforeseen incident added much to the interest of the very enjoyable occasion. Several times during the community singing, Miss Isgrig smiled approvingly at a lovely little singer on the front seat. Once she said, "If all this large audience could know the words and sing like that little girl in the front row, this community singing would be splendid. She knows all the words of every song sung."

While Dixie is inspiring to the limit, played by a fine band, particularly if leader and players were born and raised below Mason and Dixon's line, it is much less effective sung by an audience not well up on either words or music. After two verses rather haltingly rendered (literally), Miss Isgrig invited that surprised little singer to the platform. She was lifted up over the rail and, standing by the tall, willowy leader, singing Dixie with all her might and music before she realized what had happened to her. But in spite of the sudden unexpected she acquitted herself splendidly and tripped off the stage, laughing and blushing, to her delighted and astonished mother.

This is another sweet singer of Glendale, discovered through these community concerts. The first was Miss Dorothy Morton, who sang "The Star-Spangled Banner" with such fine effect at the first concert of this series, and who is on the delightful program to be given for the Red Cross benefit at the home of Mrs. C. L. Peckham, 245 North Central avenue. The latest, but not the last it is hoped, was little Helen, granddaughter of Mrs. Gansert.

The popular favorite song, "Tenting To-night," was well sung by the quartet, Misses Isgrig and Lusby and Messrs. Haines and Lusby, the whole choir with the audience making a telling chorus.

Miss Isgrig announced: "At the request of the Chamber of Commerce, I am to state that the community concert next Saturday evening, at this place, will be in charge of Mrs. Dora Gibson, Professor of Music, Glendale Union High School." The announcement also was heartily applauded, and the large audience, many of them in automobiles, melted away, feeling that the third community concert was a gratifying success.
